We will even help you get hired!

Our Career Services department maintains an excellent working relationship with key employers and recruiting professionals across the United States. We regularly receive inquiries from industry representatives, seeking an introduction and an opportunity to interview our students and graduates for a variety of relevant positions.

Many students begin interviewing in the weeks before graduation. All students and graduates, in good standing with the school, are eligible to meet with these employers while pursuing opportunities in their desired industry. Students can come back to us at any time in the future to receive access to Career Services resources.

Typical Benefits of a Career in the Airline and Travel Industries

Free and Reduced-Rate Travel

Many airlines offer specially priced, or even free travel for employee, the employee's spouse, children, and even the parents of the employee. Buddy passes are normally available to employees for friends and family members.

Discounts on Travel Related Services

Airline employees enjoy discounts on hotels, car rentals, cruises, and more.

Overtime and Holiday Pay

Airlines typically offer time-and-a-half and sometimes double-time. There can be extra pay for holidays, too.

Paid Vacation and Sick Leave

Group Insurance

Medical, dental, life and disability insurance are available at no or shared cost with most airlines.

Profit Sharing/ Continuing Education

Most airlines have profit sharing programs that reward employees for their superior service to their employer. Additionally, many airlines will reimburse employees for tuition and books when continuing education is beneficial to the employer.

Travel Agency Benefits

Travel agents are often offered free or greatly discounted first-class travel all over the world to experience the destinations being sold to clients. Travel suppliers know you'll sell best what you've experienced yourself.
